My dearest Mother,

So you see that it is as well that Collins and I didn't start for India in R101. I haven't heard details yet — Monday's papers will have enough — but I 'phoned Cardington and it seems they are all dead — Rielmond, Scott, Colmore, Brancher, Lord Thomson and many others I knew. I can scarcely realise it yet, it is so terrible: only seven of the crew appear to have survived. It was a great shock to me when I heard this morning. There will be a lot of 'I told you so's' there next few weeks, Questions in the House and a long enquiry. It is, I am afraid, the end of airships in this country.

It is all very sad.

I hope that you and Dad are alright. We are all well here, and have just had a long walk on the Common.

With much love from all of us to you both,
Your own son
Harold.
